"THE FOSTER FIASCO"

He started in the business with Hinton Jones
 Soon the stock market was in his bones
 But alas, poor John couldn't stand Frank
 So on to Harper with Granat's deep thanks
 But then at Harper, a man named Schlicting
 John soon found out was not to his fitting
 Then back to the streets trying to make ends meet And off to Hughbanks where he jumped in with both feet
 At this fine firm he called his own shots
 But then Jim Morford began to question his thoughts In John's usual manner, some changes were suggested
 And to everyone's surprise, he was left to digest it Now this is the question at Waller & Co.
 If I can't stand myself, where the hell can I go?

When you move from the Skinner Building to the Vance Building you apparently get to change your address from a room number to a suite number -- What is Frank going to call it when he can afford something respectable?

Guess Who?

For a quarter or an eighth
 My market is best, I'm here to state
 To conventions I will go
 But stick with me and you'll make dough
 When I'm away my markets stop
 I'm not responsible if prices flop
 You're on your own when I'm away
 So let us hope for a better day
 It may be late, but I'm here to state
 I've seen the light and am going straight
 So take it easy and don't fall flat
 Or you'll wind up flat on your prat

Merger Opportunity

Have firm with large back office and no production -- am interested in merging with firm with large production and no back office.

Fox, Raff & Co.

Down K. P. Way

When Lonnie talks, let's all listen
 'Cause he now speaks for him and Sisson
 When Henries talks -- don't get sore
 We have enough trouble now with that
 Cheap Bob Moore
 When Martha talks we listen and learn
 For we hear the real market, our primary Concern

When you can't come up with anything about a guy he obviously was way too quiet and way too good. Would Ken Wilson please shape up in 1968?

From this merry trio a few markets are made
 But watch out for Lee when he starts a Bear raid

An Ode to Oatey

He sells stock fast, just before the drop
 And when he comes back with more you Know you were caught
 He says a quick prayer and quietly
 Grits his teeth
 Thank God for Hinton Jones and their Trading of Heath

Lee like Ed has lost his hair
 Maybe working with Christy in her lair
 A football coach and reserve officer too??
 He will do, Ed, he will do...

F. I. DUFOUR

JIM TELL EARLE I WANT ANOTHER YEAR'S FREE EYE AND A BETTER GOLFY DISK IN THE DEPT. LOU

LOU, WHO SHOULD WE SACK IN TOWN THIS WEEK?

MAY 4 CO. +1.50 STOCK ANG'S.

MAY 4 CO.

WHAT COULD EARLE DO ABOUT IT IF I DID TELL HIM?

Our President

Look around the room, you'll have to agree
A more likely looking president you seldom would see
With steel gray at the temples and a cold blue eye
You'd have to give your widow's account to the guy

He starts the day a little different than we
For a radio stockbroker announcer is he Then back to the desk to trade, sell, fire and hire
The orders flow in from the bank, dealers, clients and wire

Then on the last Thursday each month he does try To limit the business and make sure no glass goes dry
Joe counts the pennies, Bill raises the dues
And we can be sure of no shortage of booze

So drink to the President, hail to the Chief
And if he comes in Monday, George, make your lecture brief

Down at Herron Northwest
They finally got the best
Dave is all the rave
Of course he must behave
Jan is always watching
To make sure there is no botching
And when things really start to stink
They both get a call from Frink

When Waller left, Smidt came through
Ain't that a fine how do you do
He climbs the wall and tears his hair
His partners forced him to be a bear

For the past 5 years two dogs I bought Homa and Diversa are a very sad lot
Although my customers are "aching," I feel no pain
I trade 'em short and the money comes in like rain.
--Jack Lewis

New Year's Resolutions

- "I'm going to make some decisions" -- Jack Rohde
- "I'm going to trade stocks" -- Roger Schiess
- "I'm not going to opportune" -- Fritz Frink
- "I'm staying away from Waller" -- Rick Smidt

Smiling Ed a partner is and Positions he has none Witter's volume goes up up Stealing his percentage is Fun Fun Fun

What Foulds Told...

Clint -- "Camille, would you start writing down the stories I tell the trader troops concerning the status of our limit orders.

Camille -- "Well, Blyth is on the phone and wants to buy our Weisfield's.

Clint -- "Well, tell 'em it sold yesterday and then call Bache and tell 'em to fill or kill 1/4 higher.

Camille -- "I think that's what you told Kidder yesterday.

Martin Nelson - The Trader's Dream

When he comes calling in
He never quibbles or complains
He pays that extra eighth
To facilitate his odd lot taste
But the scrooge of traders he becomes when he states
"If it will help, I'll work for eighths."
